

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A film having disposed thereon a substance for delivery to a predetermined substrate. The substance is encapsulated in a water soluble encapsulant. The film disintegrates when place on the surface of certain substrates where it releases the substance to the local environment. The films can carry medicaments, flavors, seasonings, scents and the like.